This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE Dana Library had its origin in the Cambridge Athenæum, which was incorporated in February, 1849, for the purpose, as is stated in its charter, "of establishing and maintaining in the City of Cambridge a lyceum, public library, reading-room, lectures on scientific and literary subjects, and for promoting such other kindred objects as the members of the corporation shall from time to time deem advisable and proper."

In October, 1850, a lot of land, containing ten thousand square feet, and situated on the corner of Main and Pleasant Streets, in Cambridgeport, was presented to the corporation by Mr. Edmund T. Dana, of Cambridge, and accepted at a legal meeting held on the twenty-fifth of that month. The deed of gift contained the following conditions: — 1st. That the corporation should, within two years, erect upon the land, and complete, so as to be fit for occupation, a building suitable for the purposes of the Cambridge Athenæum, as set forth in the act whereby the same was incorporated. 2d. That the land and building (with the exception of the lower story and cellar of the building, which might be used for other purposes) should be used forever for the purposes of a lyceum, public library, reading-room, lectures on scientific and literary subjects, and for promoting other kindred objects, as set forth in the Act of Incorporation.

In the following year an edifice, named the "Athenæum," was erected upon the land presented by Mr. Dana, at a cost of about $18,000; it was dedicated, and opened to the public in November, 1851. It appears, then, that one of the chief objects of this corporation in obtaining a charter, and of Mr. Dana in his gift of land to the corporation, was the establishment and maintenance in the City of Cambridge of a Public Library. A reading-room, which was also contemplated, was abandoned, after trial, for want of support.

In April, 1855, the Directors received official notice that the late Mr. James Brown, of Watertown, had bequeathed books, to the value of $1000, to the Athenæum, and had directed his executors to purchase and deliver the same, agreeably to a list to be furnished by the Directors.

Immediate measures were taken to establish the contemplated Library. A commodious room was set apart and furnished in the Athenæum building; a code of Regulations was adopted; and a Catalogue was prepared and printed of the books received from the bequest of Mr. Brown, and of the few volumes contributed from other sources. The cost of printing the Catalogue, and the other incidental expenses, were defrayed by a timely donation of $250, made for that purpose by the executors of the will of the late Mr. Thomas Dowse, of Cambridge. After various delays incident to such undertakings, the Library was opened for the delivery of books in November, 1857. Miss C. F. Orne was appointed Librarian. According to the Regulations, any person residing in Cambridge, known to the Librarian, or recommended by any citizen thus known, was entitled to the use of the Library, upon the payment of one dollar per annum, and subscribing a promise to comply with the regulations adopted for its management.

In March, 1858, the Athenæum Corporation disposed of its real estate and personal property to the City of Cambridge. The Library was also transferred to the City, the City obligating itself to contribute not less than $300 per annum, for the term of fifteen years, for its support and increase, and to maintain it forever for the use of the inhabitants of Cambridge.

In consideration of this obligation assumed by the City, Mr. Dana released the Athenæum Corporation from the conditions contained in his deed of gift. The "Athenæum" thenceforth became the "City Hall," and the "Athenæum Library," now the property of the City, received the name of the "Dana Library."

The intentions of Mr. Dana in relation to the Library, which bears his name, are evident from the following clause, being clause No. 23, of his last will and testament: —

"I give to Edmund T. Hastings and to William W. Wellington, and to the survivor of them, fifteen thousand dollars, in trust, to appropriate the same in such manner as I may by any instrument in writing under my hand appoint."

In a separate instrument, bearing the same date as the will, the testator did direct as follows: —

"To Edmund T. Hastings and William W. Wellington, or whosoever else may execute the trust created by the twenty-third clause of my will:

"The sum of fifteen thousand dollars, bequeathed by the said twenty-third clause, is to be paid over, if and whenever my trustees or trustee shall deem it expedient to do so, to the City of Cambridge, to be held by the said City in trust, as an entire fund, the income thereof to be appropriated annually, forever, to the increase and support of the Library of the Cambridge Athenæum: provided, however, that if and whenever my said trustees or trustee shall be of opinion that it is not expedient that the said sum of fifteen thousand dollars should be so appropriated, the same to be paid over to my heirs at law; and provided, further, that the said capital sum be paid over, either to said City of Cambridge, or to my heirs at law, within three years from my decease.

EDM. T. DANA."

The Trustees, appointed by the will, in an instrument signed by them, and transmitted to the City Council, signified their intention to pay this sum of fifteen thousand dollars to the City of Cambridge, whenever they should receive it from Mr. Dana's executor.

It unfortunately happened that the instrument referred to in Mr. Dana's will, and copied above, though signed by Mr. Dana, was not duly attested. It was therefore contended by the residuary legatees, "that, by the twenty-third clause in the will, nothing passed to the City of Cambridge, the same not being named as legatee; and it not being competent for a testator, by a duly executed will, to create for himself a power to dispose of his estate to legatees by another instrument not duly executed as a will or codicil." The case was brought, by the administrator with the will annexed, before the Supreme Court of this State, which, after a full hearing, decided that the twenty-third clause in the will, with the unattested instrument signed by Mr. Dana, did not "create a valid bequest to the City of Cambridge."

Thus were the generous intentions of Mr. Dana frustrated; and the munificent donation, which he designed for the Library, will pass into the hands of his residuary legatees.

The Library contains, at present, about two thousand eight hundred volumes: it is dependent, for its future support and increase, on the annual appropriations of the City Council, and the continued liberality of our citizens.

ORDINANCE

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE IN RELATION TO THE DANA LIBRARY.

SECT. 6. The Trustees of the Dana Library shall present to the City Council annually, in the month of December, a report of all their acts, doings, and proceedings, and a statement of the condition of the Library, the number of books added during the year, with an accurate account of all receipts and expenditures, together with any other information or suggestions they may deem desirable.

SECT. 7. No money shall be paid from the City treasury on account of the Library, except by order of the Trustees, and in pursuance of an order signed by the Mayor; and in no case shall the amount drawn exceed the amount appropriated for the Library.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

OF THE

DANA LIBRARY, CAMBRIDGE.

1st. ANY person residing in the City of Cambridge, who is known to the Librarian, or who may be recommended by any citizen thus known, shall be entitled to the use of the Library, upon the payment of one dollar per annum, and subscribing a promise to comply with such rules as may be adopted for its management.

2d. The Library shall be open for the delivery of books on Wednesdays and Saturdays, from 4 to 8 o'clock P. M., except when this day shall occur on the Fourth of July, or Christmas; in which event it shall be open the day preceding, during the same hours.

3d. Subscribers shall be allowed to take one volume at a time, and to retain the same one or two weeks, according to the class to which it belongs.

4th. All books shall be returned on the last Saturday in October, for the purpose of an annual examination of the Library; and no book will be given out on that day. A fine of one dollar will be exacted of those who fail to return their books on this day.

5th. To secure as far as possible equal advantages to all, any person keeping a book longer than the time allowed, shall pay a fine of five or ten cents per week, according to the class to which the book may belong, for each week until the book is returned. All sums due will be collected by the Librarian.

6th. Such books as are of a rare and costly character in the judgment of the Trustees, shall not be taken from the Library, unless by special permission, by vote or written order, of a majority of the Trustees.

7th. All injury to books beyond reasonable wear, and all books lost, shall be made good to the satisfaction of the Trustees, by the person liable. Every book detained more than four weeks shall be deemed as lost.

8th. Any person abusing the privilege of the Library, by a violation of these regulations, or in any other way, shall be immediately reported to the Trustees, who may, if they think the case requires it, exclude such person for a time, or permanently, from the use of the Library, according to the nature of the offence.

9th. All moneys received on account of the Library shall be applied to meet the current expenses; and if there be any surplus, to the increase of the Library.

DUTIES OF THE LIBRARIAN.

THE Librarian shall, under the Trustees, have charge of the room, Library, and all connected therewith, and be responsible for due care in keeping the same.

He shall in person, or by an assistant, attend during the time of the delivery of books, and shall perform such duties, in connection with the Library, as the Trustees may require.

He shall enter, in a book to be provided for that purpose, every book when received, its cost if purchased, or the name of the donor if given, and shall cause it to be properly numbered on the back of the cover.

He shall make an Alphabetical Catalogue of all books belonging to the Library, which shall be open to the public during the hours for the delivery of the books.

He shall acknowledge all gifts to the Library, as soon as they have been reported to the Trustees, and accepted by them.

He shall cause all books, pamphlets, maps, &c., belonging to the Library, to be marked or stamped with the words — "DANA LIBRARY, CAMBRIDGE."

He shall cause every volume intended for circulation to be neatly covered with suitable paper, and to have attached to it such rules as are needful to be known by those who take books from the Library; and no book shall be taken until it shall have been entered in the Catalogue, and covered and numbered.

He shall, once a year, immediately after the last Saturday in October, prepare the Library for examination; and at the same time shall present to the Trustees a detailed report of the condition of the Library, embracing the number of volumes, and such other facts as the Trustees may require.

These rules and regulations, or any of them, may be repealed, amended, altered, or enlarged, at any legal meeting of the Trustees, by a majority of the whole number.
